The Morning Star is the most precious and only voice we have in the daily media

-Jeremy Corbyn

The Morning Star is the only socialist daily newspaper published in Great Britain. Since 1946 the paper has been owned by a broad-based readers' co-operative, the People's Press Printing Society (PPPS). Management of the paper rests with the shareholders via their Annual General Meeting and election of the PPPS Management Committee. The Management Committee appoints the Editor and Company Secretary.

Nine national trade unions and one trade union region have seats on the Management Committee: Community, CWU, FBW, GMB, NUM, NUM North-East, POA, RMT, TSSA, UCATT and Unite. This means that more than half of Britain's trade union members are now represented on the Management Committee. The other, individual members of the Committee are elected by the shareholders and are subject to regular re-election.

The Morning Star is the only paper that actively campaigns for working-class politics. The only paper that supports the People's Assembly and reports authoritatively on what is happening in Cuba, Palestine, Ukraine and elsewhere. It offers a unique, non-sectarian perspective on national and international news not offered by the mainstream media.

No other daily newspaper carries such a range of voices from the left — trade union leaders and activists, left Labour MPs and the Communist Party, the Stop the War Coalition, the anti-fascist campaigns Hope Not Hate and Unite Against Fascism, the Green Party and more. We also feature distinctive arts and sports coverage unavailable elsewhere.
